The novel opens with Aunt Polly scrounging the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at suppertime, and his mother (Ms. Polly) wonders why he was skipped school that afternoon and what he did with the money he had on him. She finds out that he was playing checkers in the park, and his money was gone. Aunt Polly is satisfied, and Tom goes out to the woods to play checkers. When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of necklace. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his tasks.
