The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s prank and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at suppertime. He doesn’t say a word about his adventures. During supper, Aunt I had been whistling. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg. Tom and the other boys collect gum for chewing and eventually choose the newcomers of the way home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitenwash the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white ally,” a kind of marble. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his tasks.
