Vision A Computational Investigation Into The Human Representation And Processing Of Visual Information
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s misbehavior and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at suppertime. He is dressed in rags and is covered with soot. He has been skipping school that afternoon and went down to the laundry to get his clothes washed. Tom’s half-brother, Sid, cut his hair to disguise his identity.

Tom goes out of the house to play. He is in search of adventure. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, Tom meets Huckleberry Finn, a浪ew arrival, and eventually becomes the new owner of the entire house.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his disheveled clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “whey ale,” a kind of mustard. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his task.

Tom comes home at supper time. Tom’s aunt is pleased that he has had an adventurous day but not impressed that he has been skipped school that afternoon and spent most of the morning and afternoon in the broom closet. Tom’s aunt is pleased but not impressed that Tom was “caught” and shows her that his collar is still quite brand new. Aunt Polly is satisfied. Tom says he has observed the plan of the boys who are going to steal Arnold Hurst’s duck. Tom has sworn the boys to keep him in on the secret.

Tom goes out of the house immediately and heads for the river. Picking up a hook and a line, Tom casts into the river. As he is waiting for the fish to take the bait, he hears someone talking nearby. Whistling. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, Tom meets Huckleberry Finn. They become inseparable and eventually choose the newcomes all the way home.
