Word Meaning And Montague Grammar The Semantics Of Verbs And Times In Generative Semantics And In Montagues Ptq Author Dr Dowty Published On October 1979
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out desperately, "Look behind you!" and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom's misdeeds and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home that afternoon. He is very well about his adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly asks him how he likes school. Tom has been skipping school that afternoon and was rescued by the teacher and shooed out that his collar is still worn from the mud and that his clothes are still wet from the rain.

Tom and the new arrival eat apple pie and ice cream. Tom has sworn the diet himself to disguise his past activities.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his disheveled clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly makes Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a "white alley," a kind of marble. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his task.

The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects morosely on Tom’s rebelliousness and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom returns home at supper. Aunt Polly laments that he has skipped school that afternoon and wonders what mischief he got into. Her brother-in-law, Joe Harper, arrives, and Tom tells him about his adventure. After dinner, Aunt Polly and Joe Harper go to look for Tom. They find him in the street, and Tom tells them about his adventures. Aunt Polly and Joe Harper are pleased and satisfy Tom’s hunger.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of stimulus. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his task.
